Staff Benefits: Child Placement, Meals & Shared Kitchen Resources

Eligibility and fair-use rules for non-revenue staff-child places, available lunches, and shared tea and coffee resources.

APPLIES TO

Gardner Academy employees and relevant staff

AUTHORITY

Gardner Academy staff benefit and operational standard

01 Purpose and scope

Gardner Academy may provide specified staff benefits to support employees and the school community. These benefits are subject to the eligibility, availability, conduct, and review requirements in this policy. They are not guaranteed merely because a person is employed by the school.

02 Non-revenue staff-child placement

An eligible child admitted under this benefit is recorded as a non-revenue staff child for the period in which the benefit is approved. A staff-child place remains subject to the school's admissions process, programme capacity, classroom placement, and applicable student policies.

03 Eligible children

The staff-child placement benefit may be considered only for:

- The employee's biological child.
- A child of the employee's legally recognised spouse.
- A child legally adopted by the employee.
- The employee's grandchild, where that grandchild is the biological child of the employee's biological child.

Employees must provide reasonable documentation confirming the qualifying relationship when requested.

04 Allocation by staff category

Employees in positions classified by Administration as unqualified may be allocated up to one eligible staff-child place. Employees in positions classified as qualified may be allocated up to two eligible staff-child places. Employees must consult Administration to confirm which category applies to their position. The allocation is a maximum benefit, not a guarantee of placement.

05 Availability and continued placement

Staff children are accepted only where a suitable place is available. Approval is not guaranteed. The benefit may be reviewed, suspended, or revoked when the child's attendance or enrolment creates sustained educational, behavioural, staffing, or operational difficulty that cannot reasonably be supported within the classroom. The employee must cooperate with meetings, support plans, documentation, and any written decision concerning continued placement.

06 Free lunch benefit

Staff lunches are available only when sufficient food remains and are allocated on a first-come, first-served basis. Initial priority is given to custodial and kitchen staff; other employees must follow the communicated departmental rotation.

The lunch benefit may be restricted or revoked for an employee who creates conflict in the kitchen, interferes with food service, takes food outside the approved process, or refuses to clean their dishes and eating area after use.

07 Tea and coffee

Tea, coffee, and related staff-kitchen resources are shared and available only while supplies last. Employees must use them reasonably, leave the area clean, and allow fair access for colleagues. An employee who repeatedly or excessively uses shared resources may have this privilege restricted or revoked.

08 Questions and restrictions

Employees must refer questions about eligibility, staff classification, available places, meal rotation, or a benefit restriction to Administration or Operations. A restricted or unavailable benefit has no cash value or substitute entitlement.
